Farah comes with over 17+ years of work experience. She has shaped her career from Aviation in the Middle East, the IT and services boom in India, to Learning and Development in a new liberalized economy. She has seen the world grow smaller and believes a global mindset is imperative to grow & succeed today.

After 4 years of an exciting career in aviation, she moved back to India and joined Ion- Idea Enterprise Solutions, an IT solutions company as the Business Development Manager, Asia Pacific. She built and led a new sales team, launched new products and was responsible for creating strategic alliances.

In 2000, she moved into Learning & Development and hasn't looked back. She is passionate about helping leaders learn, grow and change to maximize their unrealized potential. She brings her rich experience of having worked with various cultures and her openness translates this with ease and confidence.

Farah facilitates workshops for Senior Management and Executives on Leadership Development, Emotional Intelligence, Cross Cultural Dexterity, Leading Global & Virtual teams, etc. Her training assignments have been in India, Middle East and South East Asia

Certified in Achieve Global's® leadership & customer service programs, THT (Trompenaars-Hampden Turner) and Communispond's Presentation Skills, Farah has an energetic persuasive delivery style which enables her to connect with participants and build rapport. She illustrates skill usage through vivid real life examples, helping in the objective of application of skills on the job.
